

COMMUNICABLE DISEASE PREVENTION FOR WORKSHOP PARTICIPANTS AND TRAINERS FOR IN-HOUSE AND OFFSITE COMMUNITY EDUCATION PROGRAMS PRESENTED BY VANCOUVER ISLAND CRISIS SOCIETY

The Vancouver Island Crisis Society (VICS) recognizes the importance of our staff's and workshop participants' wellness.

- If any participant is sick – for example, with symptoms such as a fever or a cough – this participant is NOT able to attend the workshop for which they are registered. This participant must contact info@vicrisis.ca to inform VICS of their health status or report it to the representative for an offsite group training.
- Vancouver Island Crisis Society's cancellation policy, stated upon registration, remains in effect; it states that no refunds or credits are available for notification of cancellation within 14 days of a workshop's start date.
- Masks are no longer required to be worn, as of March 11, 2022. Participants can choose to wear masks, if they wish.
- As of April 8, 2022, participants will no longer be required to show vaccine passports to attend.
- Hand sanitizers and masks will be available whether attending a workshop at the VICS Training Centre or participating in offsite group training.
- By submitting a registration form for training, participants indicate that they agree to these guidelines and protocols and release the Vancouver Island Crisis Society of any liability if they were to contract COVID-19 through their participation in a workshop presented by VICS. They understand that VICS facilitators have the right to refuse their participation in a workshop when they are sick.

A huge thank you for your continued support!
